

ACCESSING INFORMATION ELECTRONICALLY

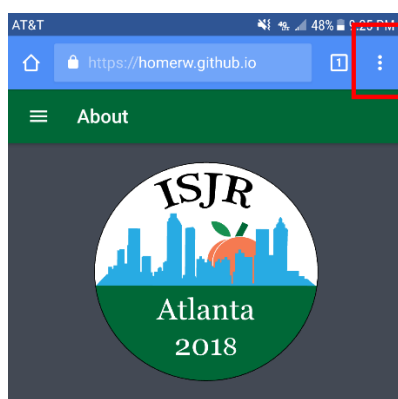

Internet Access

Through the EmoryGuest program, the university provides free wi-fi to visitors. Recently, Emory has increased the bandwidth for visitors to improve usability. Visitors will validate with a text message or registered email to access the wi-fi; once authenticated, the network caches the address for 24 hours. Wi-fi is available in conference accommodations as well. (Visitors from other universities also have the option to use Eduroam, which provides faster connectivity speeds and uses home university login credentials.)

Downloading Conference App

Go to sociology.emory.edu/home/isjr2018 on your mobile device. Click the link under Conference App to navigate to the app website. For the best experience, add the app to your home screen.

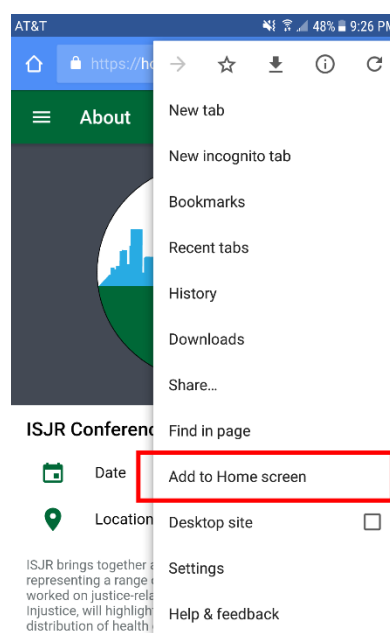

On Android tap the menu button (three vertical dots) in the top right corner. Then tap "Add to Home screen."

ISJR Conference 2018

	Date	July 25-28
	Location	Atlanta, Georgia

ISJR brings together a network of diverse scholars, representing a range of disciplines and countries, who worked on justice-related issues. The theme, Interrogating Injustice, will highlight issues related to race and to the distribution of health care resources. In addition to program sessions, a training workshop for graduate students will be held on July 25. The conference is hosted by Emory University, in conjunction with Georgia State University and University of Georgia. Conference sessions will be held in the Emory University School of Public Health, with luncheons in

ISJR Conference 2018

	Date	July 25-28
	Location	Atlanta, Georgia

ISJR brings together a network of diverse scholars, representing a range of disciplines and countries, who worked on justice-related issues. The theme, Interrogating Injustice, will highlight issues related to race and to the distribution of health care resources. In addition to program sessions, a training workshop for graduate students will be held on July 25. The conference is hosted by Emory University, in conjunction with Georgia State University and University of Georgia. Conference sessions will be held in the Emory University School of Public Health, with luncheons in

On iOS (iPhone) tap the share button (the box with the upward facing arrow). Then scroll to the right on the buttons and tap "Add to Home Screen."

